

[Conveloq] Paid Online Research Opportunities

Dear Students,

Conveloq would like to share paid online research opportunities for international students and foreign residents in Korea.

1. About Conveloq

Conveloq is a research participation platform that connects university researchers with participants for academic surveys, experiments, interviews, and other studies.

Registration is free and takes only a few minutes.

2. Participate from Anywhere

Online studies are currently available. Participants can take part from anywhere using a laptop, computer, or mobile device.

Eligibility requirements, estimated completion time, and compensation vary by study.

Eligible participants may receive cash or other compensation after completing the study and meeting its participation requirements.

3. How to Participate

Create an account, complete your basic profile, and review the studies available to you.
